

Topic	Meaning	Example
Pfizer-related	Tweets that specifically refer to Pfizer. I wanted to make one for Moderna but most tweets are about Pfizer.	@johncardillo Type pfizer criminal history into google. Its mandated you inject their product in our body.  "Pfizer has been a _ÑÒhabitual offender,_Ñ persistentlly engaging in illegal and corrupt marketing practices, bribing physicians and suppressing adverse trial results."
Political-related	Tweets that refer to general government, or health agencies, or countries, etc.	@laurenboebert Didn't dear ol Donny say Covid would be gone..wall would be built..another term would be served...that windmills could cause cancer...that he created the vaccine...that the virus was nothing to fear...that he won the election... should we go on?
Booster-related	Tweets that refer to getting the additional vaccine dose	J.&J. booster works well for people who had Pfizer originally, studyë_finds. https://t.co/aW5H0RxmzR
Work-related	Tweets that refer to how Covid affected people's jobs. (considering removing because not very common. Maybe can be part of effects?)	@TigerDogB @rick_pittman I literally just had covid last month. I have a higher chance of adverse reactions from the vaccine at this point. My employer didn_Ñét care and suspended me, although I work from home.
Side-effect-related	Tweets that immediately refer to side effects of Covid (e.g. catching covid again, death, ...)	3 Children Dead, 120 Hospitalized _ÑÓ Pfizer Vaccine Batch Suspended - https://t.co/1C487ca2Cm AGAIN! DANGER! DO NOT GET THE VAX! DO NOT MURDER YOUR CHILD! SAY NO!
Vaccine-proof	Tweets that refer to proof of vaccination	No checking of vaccination certificate/ COVID Test report being done at @DelhiAirport as observed today during boarding my @AirAsiaIndia flight to Guwahati today.
Vaccine-general-knowledge	Many tweets would mention random facts about the vaccines. For example statistics, or how vaccines work. So I added this topic even if the	My last OpEd ( https://t.co/z3xsMMPwN9 ) was abt @KingJames & encouraging vaccine uptake. The opportunity is still there, & new @NEJM paper using no other than vax_Ñéd @NBA players_Ñé data shows vaccinated ppl who get covid clear it faster ( https://t.co/Ukio5wJQS ) h/t @RWeintraubMD https://t.co/JwQvKvSIHf https://t.co/qvmSjeNwlw

	knowledge is false. (many tweets have false information).  Im very unsure of this topic, considering renaming it	@bornoncemore @VABVOX Also the vaccine shortens the duration of COVID which means it spreads less. So no your final point is that of a TOTAL JERK. GO AWAY.
Vaccine-outlook-related	Unsure of this topic. Many tweets do not fit into any of the previous categories and are general opinions. I only use this topic as a last resort.	@StigAbell As someone who has a 99%+ chance of survival from Covid I_Ñéve carried out my own risk assessment and decided that the risks associated with the vaccine far outweigh the benefits so it_Ñés a no from me.
Other	Few random tweets don't fit in anywhere
